

Mapsmiths Gong

Wellington-based Geographx was one of three finalists for the International Map Trade Associations's Global Map Awards held earlier this month in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

“We are very happy mapsmiths. To have competed successfully on the world stage is international affirmation of the interpretative cartography we want Geographx to be known for” Geographx's director Roger Smith said.

To top it off, Geographx's map of the Marlborough Sounds has been selected as one of 27 from around the world to be featured in the inaugural Atlas of Design, to be published in October by the North American Cartographic Information Society to “showcase cartography at its most beautiful, its cleverest, its sharpest and its most intriguing”.